solutions.!

Kiosk payment is a self-ordering system that allows customers to place orders and make payments directly in-store.

Applicable across all industries, its adoption and usage are rapidly increasing. The Galaxia Kiosk is manufactured by Galaxia Device, a specialized ATM manufacturer that meets the strict quality and reliability standards required for cash handling systems.

As a result, you can install and operate the Galaxia Kiosk with confidence in its quality and performance.

GALAXIA DEVICE

Galaxia Device is an IT components and materials company that supplies products such as mobile phone keypads and ATM rollers. The company has secured world-class competitiveness across all areas, including product design, development, mold manufacturing, production, and quality assurance. For over 30 years, Galaxia Device has been a trusted partner of Samsung Electronics, collaborating in the wireless, printer, and visual display business sectors.

By aligning with the growing adoption of contactless payments across both online and offline markets, we will continue to expand into new market areas by leveraging our expertise in electronic payment solutions through the kiosk business.
